ABOUT

Repurposed and reformulated locally acting product designed as a novel, locally acting long-term treatment for Burning Mouth Syndrome (BMS). It is intended to deliver a proven active ingredient directly to the affected oral tissue, offering a targeted alternative to systemic therapies.

STAGE

Two promising pre-prototypes are advancing in development.

The objective is to finalize a differentiated formulation that is eligible for patent protection and can progress into clinical validation.

INDICATION

Treatment of Burning Mouth Syndrome (BMS).

BMS is a chronic condition characterized by persistent burning sensations in the mouth without an identifiable cause.

It most commonly affects the tongue, lips, gums, or the entire oral cavity and may be associated with dryness, altered taste, or a metallic sensation.

BENEFIT

This novel, locally acting oral formulation is designed to provide targeted symptom relief and address a significant unmet need in a condition for which no approved treatments currently exist.

IP RIGHTS / EXCLUSIVITY
