

Reformulated intravenous metolazone for patients with congestive heart failure (Reformulating)

ABOUT

Metolazone IV is being developed as the first injectable formulation of metolazone, designed for hospital use in patients with acute decompensated heart failure and severe fluid overload. It is designed to enable immediate drug delivery and more predictable dosing when oral absorption is impaired or oral administration is not feasible.

STAGE

Registration batches have been initiated, and clinical completion is anticipated in 2026.

INDICATION

For the treatment of salt and water retention, including oedema associated with congestive heart failure and renal disorders such as nephrotic syndrome or reduced kidney function.

BENEFIT

The IV formulation is expected to provide faster onset of action, enable concomitant administration with IV furosemide (the first-line standard of care), and improve treatment reliability in patients with gastrointestinal oedema, nausea, or inability to take oral medication. It may also support better in-hospital dosing control in acutely ill patients.

IP RIGHTS / EXCLUSIVITY

Patents and pending patent applications in the U.S. and selected countries, including protection for a lyophilized metolazone formulation for parenteral administration; Expiry 2044, subject to grant and jurisdiction.
