

Sotalol IV

Core Driver

U.S. Market

Intravenous sotalol formulation for the U.S. market for the treatment of atrial fibrillation and life-threatening ventricular arrhythmias (Reformulating)

ABOUT

Sotalol IV is an intravenous formulation of an established antiarrhythmic developed to enable the safe and efficient initiation of sotalol therapy in patients with atrial fibrillation or ventricular arrhythmias.

STAGE

FDA-approved and commercialized in the U.S. by AltaThera.

INDICATION

Sotalol IV is indicated for the treatment of documented, life-threatening ventricular arrhythmias, including sustained ventricular tachycardia. It is also indicated to help maintain normal sinus rhythm by delaying recurrence of atrial fibrillation or atrial flutter in highly symptomatic patients who are already in sinus rhythm. In addition, it may provide a useful intravenous option for patients who are temporarily unable to take oral sotalol.

BENEFIT

Sotalol IV is designed to shorten hospital initiation time, reduce overall healthcare resource utilization, and improve treatment efficiency for patients starting sotalol therapy. IV loading may reduce hospitalization to as little as one day in appropriate patients, while also allowing more controlled management of drug exposure and clinical monitoring.

IP RIGHTS / EXCLUSIVITY

Protected by formulation patents, including ready-to-use intravenous composition patents, with protection currently referenced through 2034.
